

I. Convention For The Suppression Of The Traffic In Persons And Of The Exploitation Of The Prostitution Of Others

Introduction

This Convention was approved by the General Assembly in its resolution 317 (IV) of 2 December 1949 and entered into force on 25 July 1951. Under the auspices of the League of Nations, several attempts had been made to suppress the activities connected with prostitution, including development of four international instruments in this area. 1/ While these instruments laid down certain repressive measures against traffickers of persons and some protective measures for women and girls, they did not focus on the question of prostitution in itself, which is in the background of the traffic in persons.

In view of this, the League of Nations, in 1937, prepared a draft convention for the purpose of securing concerted action at the international level for the abolition of "licensed houses" and punishment of any person managing a brothel or exploiting the prostitution of others. This draft was not finalized, owing to the outbreak of the Second World War.

The Economic and Social Council, in its resolution 43 (IV) of 29 March 1947, requested the Secretary-General, inter alia, to resume the study of the draft convention of 1937 and to make any necessary amendments in order to bring it up to date. This led to the adoption of the Convention by the General Assembly.

The Convention consolidates earlier instruments and embodies abolitionist policy as a basis for any programme of action against the traffic in persons and the exploitation of the prostitution of others. This policy comprises the abolition of any form of the regulation of prostitution, the repression of the third party profiteers, the prevention of prostitution and the rehabilitation of its victims.

As one of the first steps, the Secretariat prepared a report on traffic in persons and prostitution in 1959, which was considered by the Social Commission. 2/

Following a number of initiatives in this area in the meantime, the Commission on Human Rights most recently, after studying the report of the Working Group on Contemporary Forms of Slavery of its Sub-Commission on Prevention of Discrimination and Protection of Minorities, 3/ decided to refer to its Sub-Commission the draft programme of action for prevention of the sale of children, child prostitution and child pornography 4/so that it might make the necessary amendments in the light of opinions received from Governments, the specialized agencies and intergovernmental and non-governmental organizations. Further, the working group on slavery of the 1991 Sub-Commission focused on the traffic in persons and the exploitation of prostitution of others.
